Call for Applications for the International Microscopy Congress in Liverpool

The German Society for Electron Microscopy (DGE) supports the participation of young scientists in the International Microscopy Congress (IMC 2026) in Liverpool by awarding grants of up to 500 euros. In return, the DGE expects participants to attend the conference with an own scientific presentation and to submit a report on their experience for publication in the DGE Bulletin.

Members of the DGE or individuals who submit an application for DGE membership along with their grant application may submit applications to the President:

President of DGE
Prof. Dr. Kerstin Volz
AG Funktionsmaterialien, Struktur- & Technologieforschungslabor (STRL)
Philipps-Universität Marburg
Renthof 5
35032 Marburg

Please send applications to the Executive Secretariat at:
info@dge-microscopy.de

The application should include:

- A cover letter with a brief description of your professional and academic background
- A copy of the submitted abstract
- A brief letter of recommendation from your academic advisor

The DGE Executive Board will decide on the selection of recipients.

Eligible for funding are students and doctoral candidates who, at the time of application, have not yet completed their doctorate.

Please submit your application and abstract electronically, and the brief letter of recommendation from your academic advisor electronically or by mail.

The application deadline is July 15, 2026
